ALBRIGHT
COLLEGE
READING
PENNSYLVANIA

ALBRIGHT COLLEGE
READING, PA 19612

WHITE CHAPEL – Originally called Howe Hall. The Episcopal Diocesan School for Boys constructed the White Chapel in 1882 as a gymnasium and armory. During renovations to the structure in 1888, a second floor was added to serve as a dormitory for the "fellows," and offices and classrooms were established on the first floor. Albright College used the White Chapel over the years for a variety of academic purposes.

Photo © 2000 Anthony L. Iezzi, Iezzi Photography
3426 Gray St., Laureldale, Pennsylvania 19605-1932

Made in U.S.A.

6 51424 00100 7

Reading, PA 01C
MAR35077